ORDER

11-CV-8611 (AT) (JLC)

JAMES L. COTT, United States Magistrate Judge.

On November 26, 2019, defendants submitted via email a letter-motion to compel discovery with 10 accompanying exhibits.¹ Under the Court's Individual Rules, plaintiff had two business days to respond to the letter-motion. To date, however, the Court has not received any response. The Court is aware that plaintiff's counsel was out of the country at the time defendants' letter-motion was submitted and will remain away until the end of this week, given prior communications from the parties. Accordingly, plaintiff is hereby directed to respond to defendants' letter motion no later than December 18.

Once plaintiff has responded to this letter-motion, the Court will then determine whether it can resolve this motion (as well as plaintiff's previously submitted letter-motion) on submission, or whether a conference is necessary.

SO ORDERED.
